This book and DVD combination is a unique organization of an introduction to cultural anthropology. It provides the student with the opportunity to 'see' other cultures in a way not possible from textbooks only. If you do not have access to a DVD player in your home, there are several available in the library. You should keep up on your reading/viewing in this book as it complements and expands on the materials provided in the lectures. If you can find the earlier edition, you may use it.
