

Late Assignments

- Special Note: I do accept late written work; but not late work on examinations or late lab preps for Anthropology& 215.
- Special Note: There is a final date whereby I will accept late work, and this is posted in the syllabus.
- Special Note: I reserve the right fill out the grading rubric, but not to make comments or other feedback on late work. If you post is late, you are encouraged to bring a paper copy to my office (GWH 218) during office hours and I will give further feedback.

Criteria for the Acceptance of Late Work

- The first criterion is that the paper meets the stated expectations for the assignment (the length is 5 pages when 5 pages are required or that the assignment is typed, for example).
- The second criterion is that the grade that would have been awarded, if the paper had been on time, would have been a C or better. [Be clear, I am saying I do not accept 'half-finished' assignments for grading; this is not a way to get points for sloppy work.]

Penalty Structure for Late Work

- The first day and each partial day, I will decrease your points by 10%/day.
- I will then grade your paper as I would any other paper, decreasing your points, accordingly.
- If the combined loss of points reaches 50% of the grade, I stop and record 50% as your grade.

Inclement Weather/Assignments Due

- If there is inclement weather that closes the campus, then the due date is automatically extended to the next class day after the campus is reopened. Under normal circumstances I do not accept any assignments by email.
- If the campus is not closed, but the weather can be documented as of sufficient severity, I will accept emailed work. I still require a 'hard copy' on the next possible class day, as I will not be spending my time opening and printing student work.
- No matter what the campus decision is about whether to open the campus during inclement weather, I urge you to be conservative when making a decision about coming to campus if there are poor road conditions. No grade is worth your life or your vehicle.
